The telegraph has been lying, as usual, about Iowa elections. It announced the result a Republican triumph before it could possibly be known by the returns. The Republicans had elected the State ticket by 8,000 majority, and all the Congressmen (6).

The Dubuque Herald, of the 20th, gives returns from 28 counties, in which the Democratic ticket gains over half the Republican majority. There are about one hundred counties in the State. The same paper says the returns from the First Congressional District are nearly all in, and elect Cornish, Democrat, over Wilson, Republican, with about 200 majority.

> HEADQ'TERS 2D DIVISION ARMY OF OHIO, ) IN THE FIELD, October 17, 1862. Capt. J. A. Compbell, A. A. A. G. 1st Corps d' Armee, Army of the Ohio :

SIR: I have the honor to submit the fol lowing report of the part taken by the 3d Division Army of the Ohio, in the battle of Chaplin Hills, fought on the 8th instant. On the morning of the 8th, on the march Gen McCook showed me an order of General Buell, in which it was said he should move cautiously on approaching Perryville, as the enemy would probably make resistance in that vicinity. When near Chaplin Hills battle ground, and perhaps three miles from Perryville, the report of artillery to our right and front was heard, and Gen. Mc-Cook ordered me to advance my cavalry and infantry in recognizance, leaving the artillery on an eminence in the road moved on with the infantry receded by six companies of the econd Kentucky Cavalry, Col. Buckner Board, and when near the field of battle Col. Board reported the enemy in sight. I halted the command, sent back for Gen. McCook, and he and I rode forward to the front, examined the ground, and chose line of battle, to be adopted if the enemy advanced upon us, and soon afterwards meved up to Russell's house, on the kill overlooking the field, and there halted the head of the column. Whilst there the ar-needed a regiment of infantry to suppor his pieces. I ordered the Forty-second In to his pieces and found him and Captain Harris there. The enemy was just disappearing in the woods, far to the front, and out of range of Harris' ordinary brass pieces. I then ordered up Loomis with two of his Parrott guns, and he shelled the woods, the enemy now and then appearing, retired, and it was so believed. Gen. Cook rode off to see General Buell, understood to be two or three miles on our right. Waiting, perhaps, an hour, I conto resume the march to Chaplin Creek, then probably a mile to our front, to get water for my men, who were suffering intensely for want of it. There was a small pool in the bed of the little stream t the right of Loomis' 'two pieces, to which the Forty-second Indiana was directed, in the head of the column was within a hundred or two hundred yards of Loomis' pieces, I halted it and went forward to see what was reported to be the enemy reappearing in the woods beyond, and in a few minutes I could see him plainly, and the discharge of shell from three batteries, masked, gave unmistakable evidence of his presence force. I ordered Loomis to reply and bring up the remainder of his guns, and sent an order to Capt. Simonson, Fifth Indiana artillery, to join Loomis, all of which was done. I then sent an order to Colonel Lytle to form his brigade on the right in good position, and galloped back to place Harris' brigade in position to resist right flank. It was moving steadily up in the advance of the enemy, which I was full view of where General Gilbert's army Wickliffe, of Col. Board's cavalry, was being made in that direction in great force of cavalry, infantry, and artillery. I aided Col. Harris, com nanding the Ninth brigade, to form his brigade in two lines, the Second Ohio, Lieutenant Colonel Kell, county, from which we take the following extract:

hearing that re-enforcements were approaching, the brigade was ordered to retire and give place to them, which it did in good order. The re-enforcements were from Mitchel's division, as I understood, and First Kentucky Artillery. I then directed Col. Starkweather to place Stone's battery and that of Capt. From the Memphis Bulletin, October 19th As the steamboat Catahoula, which is now running between this city and Helena in the place of the regular authorized traffic boat Gladiator, was passing up to this city this morning, she was fired into at between half past nine and ten o'clock, from the Arkansas shore, at a spot a little over three miles below this city. On approaching the spot nothing was to be seen to indicate what was coming, when suddenly a single gun was fired. This was followed by seven to ten more shots, a considerable number of men, in uniform, sprung up from the ambush and poured volley upon volley on the boat, aiming especially in the direction of the pilot house. A perfect hail of buckshot and Minie balls struck upon of the shot and bullets. There were on the boat besides the usual Clellar

The Adventures of a Loyal Maiden

Among the Secesh. Miss Fanny Briton some time since re ceived a communication from the Colonel of an Ohio regiment, then stationed at Lebanon, Kentucky, to visit her brother there, who was in his command. Fanny was a resident of Cleveland, and availing herself of the opportunity to embrace a cherished relative, she made up a small bundle, put what she supposed would be sufficient n ey in her purse and started for the "lebatable ground." Arrived at Lexington she found that the regiment to which her broth er belonged had changed its location, and for a couple of weeks until her money was almost expended, when she made up on foot for Paris, which, travel worn, she reached late in the evening to find in the apartment of a house in the second story.

Guerrillas at Island No. 10.

SKIRMISHING NEAR TIPTONVILLE-PEMIS-The steamboat Graham, from St. Louis, arived at our landing last evening, and from Captain Bart. Bowen, her gentlemanly comnander, we learn the reason of the firing at the Meteor, which arrived at noon day, reported hearing as she passed the neighborhood of the celebrated Island No. 10. It appears that on Thursday two bodies of Colonel Faulkner's rebel cavalry came in there, and each mistaking the other vision for enemics, the two bodies fired vigorously into each other. It is reported, however, that the consequence of the blunder had no more serious result than the firing attracted the attention of some Feder-al troops scouting in the neighborhood, and ing off seven prisoners.

At Tiptor ville it was reported that the guerrillas were active all around and full of vindictive designs. It was stated, how-ever, that they had been met by some Federal troops who had wounded four or five of their men. There appears to be great activity manifested at the present time by the enemy along the river. They have been encouraged by the inactivity of the gun-boats to believe they can close the river ommerce of Memphis and starve it into submission to the Confederacy. While we re writing, steps are being carried out that will show them the futility of their expec-tations, while it proves to them that Gen. Sherman will not permit their unwarlike banditti proceedings to be perpetrated without bringing bitter consequences on the heads of their aiders and sympathizers.

When the Graham passed Pemisco Bayou where the Continental and Dickey were fired into, a gunboat was lying there, and all was quiet. In our report of the shooting into the Dickey, we stated that she was hailed at Haile's Point, by a crowd of peoole. She did not answer the hail. Graham ascertained that a quantity of coton had been brought there for shipment, and the crowd that raised suspicion on poard the Dickey was composed of a guard collected to protect the cotton

REBEL VIEWS OF BRAGG'S KENTUCKY CAMPAIGN .-- A letter in the Augusta Con-27th, says:

It is no part of General Bragg's present plans to occupy Louisville. At every move he has deceived, out-generaled and outflanked Buell, who is now making his way to Louisville. If Bragg's object in making the recent demonstration against Louisville was simply to draw Buell's forces thither, he has succeeded. His ulterior object may be to fall back in the direction of Nashville and repossess that place, but as yet his strategy is not apparent. The Yankees would have us believe that he is closely pressed by their forces in the retrograde real situation of affairs in Kentucky. understand that the late Northern accounts from that State have not occasioned that solicitude in official circles which pervades the public mind.

ANOTHER ALARM IN CUMBERLAND .- We learn from passengers who arrived last night from Cumberland that there was considerable excitement in that city on Sunday afternoon. A report reached the city that the rebels had possession of the Balti-more and Ohio Railroad at some point between Green Spring and Handcock. IMPORTANT DECISION .- Owing to the fact furnish a full supply of stamps for the vaused, according to the requirements of the excise law, many persons have feared that documents made since the 1st of October would be invalid. In response to questions put to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue touching this matter, he replies as follows, under date of October 16, 1862: "That every paper is equally valid issued before January 1, 1863, without a stamp as with it. If the unstamped instrument should be needed as evidence in court, the party using it would be subjected to an expense of five dollars in addition to the cost of the stamp required. Congress will probably give relief in this particular."

Garibaldi to Issue Another Manifesto.

POTTSVILLE, PA., Oct. 24. The difficulties among the coal miners n Shuylkill county, in regard to draft, has been adjusted. All is now quiet. The men are resuming work, which has been suspended for the past forty-eight hours. SANDY HOOK, Oct. 24.

Latest via Queenstown, London Oct. 12.—Advices from Italy say that Garibaldi is about to issue another manifesto, and that he will still endeavor to cary out his project of taking Rome. Paris, Oct 12 .- The Bourse closed inanimate yesterday at 91f and 85c on Rentes. Further by the Australasian .- The question of the recognition of the Southern Confederacy by England, continued to attract considerable attention. It was asserted that the English Government had announced its intention of continuing neutral. The steamship City of New York arrived out on the 10th.

Gladstone's strong language, regarding the South, continued the prominent theme. It is asserted that the British and French governments have lost no time in andiate recognition.

It is reported that the Southern Association in Liverpool, also the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, influenced by Gladstone's remarks, would memoralize the government in favor of the recognition of the South. The city article, in the Times, says that the commercial classes in London, are strongly opposed to any action on the part of the government to ward a formal recognition of the South, and hints that the desire for the recognition, comes from the North than the South, and that the Daily News replies to the strictures upon President Lincoln's emancipation proclamation, and defends it from most recent improvements, are nearly noiseless when in operation, run with the greatest ease and rapidity, and are better adapted for general purposes and family use than any other. They are not liable to get out of order, are exceedingly simple, and are made expressly for real practical utility; they do every variety of sewing, from the finest woven tissue to the heavier woolen goods, both tailoring and fine leather work. The great difficulty with all other old-style Machin

The great difficulty with all other one-say is too much complication, requiring so much constadjustment, and such an amount of mechanical s and ingenuity to use them to advantage, as to rer them of little comparative value.

But the Sewing Machines manufactured by Greman & True are not liable to these objections, as person, on even a moment's examination, will read discover. They will do more and better work than other Machine ever offered to the public, making most beautiful lock-stitch, alike on both sides. The Trustees are determined to carry this Institution vigorously through the present crisis in the affairs of the country. Though the students will be necessarily much fewer than they have been in times of peace, yet with such a Faculty and the advantages of the most complete Library and Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus in the country it is hoped a fair class will be in attendance. Whether many or few, however, Providence permitting, the College will go on as usual.
